1. Basic Information

(1) Basic Policy on Compliance

[1] Thinking Regarding Compliance

GLP J-REIT (hereinafter referred to as the “Investment Corporation”) and GLP Japan Advisors Inc. (hereinafter referred to as the “Asset Manager”) are fully cognizant of the significance of the fact that the asset management the Asset Manager conducts for the assets of the Investment Corporation constitutes the management of the funds of the Investment Corporation’s investors, and the Asset Manager has prepared internal compliance rules and other necessary rules and has established a Compliance Committee and a position of Compliance Officer as described below to ensure full compliance with applicable laws and regulations in order to ensure the development of an appropriate management structure.

[2] The Compliance Structure (structure for ensuring compliance with laws and regulations)

(A) The Compliance Committee

In order to establish an appropriate management structure for the Asset Manager to conduct the asset management of the Investment Corporation, the Asset Manager has established a Compliance Committee charged with the revision (excluding the correction of errata) of compliance rules; the formulation and revision of a Compliance Manual and Compliance Program (excluding the correction of errata); deciding on corrective measures regarding conduct which is, or is suspected to be, inappropriate from a compliance standpoint; and the review on whether there are issues of compliance with respect to matters concerning transactions with related parties and other matters regarding which the Compliance Officer judges there to be questions in terms of compliance.

The Compliance Committee is composed of the Compliance Officer as chairperson, the President and at least one outside professional designated by the Board of Directors (hereinafter referred to as the “Outside Expert(s) on the Compliance Committee”). When designating the Outside Expert(s) on the Compliance Committee, the approval of the board of directors of the Investment Corporation will be required (but will not be required for reappointment). As of the date of this report an outside attorney is the one Outside Expert on the Compliance Committee. A member of the General Affairs Department attends the Compliance Committee as the secretariat of the Compliance Committee and assists the Compliance Officer.

The Compliance Committee in principle meets once every three months as convened by the chairperson, and as otherwise necessary.

Decisions of the Compliance Committee require that a majority of all of the members having voting rights and all Outside Expert(s) on the Compliance Committee be present and a majority of those members and all Outside Expert(s) on the Compliance Committee vote their approval. When the Compliance Committee reviews as one of the matters it must decide on whether there are issues of compliance with respect to matters concerning transactions between related parties and the Investment Corporation, a committee member having voting rights who is a related party or a committee member having voting rights who currently holds the position of an officer or employee (including as a concurrent position, but excluding cases when such person has been seconded or transferred to the Asset Manager) of a related party, which is a corporation, may not participate in the decision.

Decisions of the Compliance Committee will be reported regularly to the Board of Directors by the Compliance Officer. When the Compliance Committee reviews and approves matters which the Investment Committee must decide, the substance of the review (including any minority opinion presented during the course of the review) will be reported to the Investment Committee by the Compliance Officer.

(B) The Compliance Officer

The Asset Manager, fully cognizant of the significance of the fact that the asset management it conducts with the assets of the Investment Corporation constitutes the management of the funds of the Investment Corporation's investors, in order to ensure the development of an appropriate management structure, has established the position of Compliance Officer as key person responsible for compliance, thereby ensuring the effectiveness of the function of internal oversight of other units. The selection or the dismissal of the Compliance Officer requires the approval of two thirds or more of the directors in attendance at a board of directors meeting which is attended by a majority of all of the directors who have voting rights

The Compliance Officer, as the key person responsible for compliance in the Asset Manager, is charged with establishing and maintaining the internal compliance structure of the company and raising the level of standards awareness within the company in regard to compliance with all applicable laws, regulations and rules. To those ends the Compliance Officer prepares a Compliance Manual and Compliance Program through the Compliance Committee, continually monitors to ensure that all operations conducted for the asset management of the Investment Corporation by the Asset Manager comply with all applicable laws, regulations, rules and the articles of incorporation of the Investment Corporation, and exercises supervision over the overall internal compliance environment in daily operations.

The General Administration Department, being charged with overall general administrative operations, will assist the work of the Compliance Officer.

In view of the importance of the duties of the Compliance Officer, the Compliance Officer in the Asset Manager devotes him/herself exclusively and on a full-time basis to addressing compliance matters. Only a person having adequate investigative and supervisory capacity for ensuring compliance with all applicable laws, regulations and rules may be appointed as the Compliance Officer.

The Compliance Officer is also in charge of internal auditing of the Asset Manager (however, the internal auditing of the Compliance Officer is conducted by the President.). All internal organization and job classifications are subject to internal audit; audit and other procedures to assess whether the operations and management of all internal organizations comply with all applicable laws, regulations and rules and are being conducted appropriately and efficiently will be carried out on a regular basis based on the Compliance Program and the Internal Audit Rules. When internal audits are conducted all departments must submit and explain all documents, account books or other materials as requested by the Compliance Officer and cooperate fully to ensure the smooth implementation of the internal auditing.

(4) Investment Policy and Investment Targets

[1] Basic Investment Policy

Pursuant to the Act on Investment Trusts and Investment Corporations (Act No. 198 of 1951) (the “Investment Trusts Act”), the Investment Corporation provides in its articles of incorporation that its basic investment policy shall be to manage assets by investing in the assets set forth in the articles of incorporation as investment targets for the purpose of managing assets by investing primarily in real estate, etc. (meaning real estate, real estate leasehold rights, surface rights and trust beneficiary interests for which only these assets are entrusted) with the aim of achieving stable income over the medium to long term and steady growth of the investment assets.

The Investment Corporation, in accordance with this basic policy, will invest in logistics facilities or real estate-related assets which are real estate ancillary to or related to logistics facilities or real estate securities backed by the foregoing.

(A) Investment Focused on Modern Logistics Facilities

The Investment Corporation has established as its primary investment target logistics properties which it identifies as “modern logistics facilities,” which are large-scale (minimum gross floor area of 10,000 m²) and highly-functional leasable logistics facilities characterized by limited supply and future demand growth potential. In particular, the focus will be on investing in those facilities having the following features, among others, which in our view indicate high functionality: more than half of the gross floor area with a floor-to-ceiling height of 5.5 m or more and a floor load tolerance of 1.5 t/m² or more.

When investing in modern logistics facilities, in addition to the functions just cited, attention will also be given to such additional functions as “significant inter-pillar space” “advanced truck loading yards (width of loading space, high floored truck berths, dock levelers),” “high delivery efficiency truck berth design (truck berths on both sides and on each floor),” “ramp ways,” “office space” “high capacity elevators,” “employee space (changing room, employee lounge, store),” “high-intensity lighting (intensity appropriate for warehouse work),” “seismically isolated structures,” “24-hour security,” and “advanced environmentally friendly features.”

These functionalities are deemed to provide added value to tenants’ operations from the perspectives of delivery and warehouse work efficiency, business sustainability and safety. For example, significant inter-pillar space and greater floor-to-ceiling height increases tenants’ options in terms of the positioning and layout of equipment; adequate floor load tolerance allows for the handling of a large range of cargo. By providing the additional functionalities of ramp way access for trucks to higher floors and adequate loading space, the capacity for handling the simultaneous arrival of large numbers of trucks facilitates a reduction of lead time and accommodation of frequent deliveries.

The provision of ample employee space significantly contributes to the ability to attract labor for warehouse and other workers.

The Investment Corporation will include land leased to a third party that owns a building thereon, so-called land with leasehold interest, in the targets of investment for the Investment Corporation if a logistics facility currently exists on the land or if through redevelopment the future construction of a logistics facility on the land is expected to be possible. The policy is to aim to achieve further income and grow the portfolio of the Investment Corporation by investing in land with leasehold interest.

Furthermore, the Investment Corporation made an amendment to its Articles of Incorporation at the 8th General Unitholders Meeting held on May 28, 2020, to specify explicitly that real estate considered to be highly compatible with logistics facilities, such as data centers, research facilities, factories and other real estate provided as a base for corporate activities, as well a real estate-related assets which are real estate ancillary to or related to such real estate or real estate securities backed by such real estate be included in the investment targets in addition to the main target of logistics facilities. However, the Investment Corporation has not invested in such real estate or real estate-related assets as of the date of this document.

(B) Utilization of Support from the GLP Group

In order to ensure the stable operation and steady external growth of its investment assets, it is the policy of the Investment Corporation to utilize to the fullest extent all of the domestic and international data, knowhow and management resources of GLP and the GLP Group relating to the development, operation, leasing and property management, of modern logistics facilities.

(i) Global track record of the GLP Group

GLP Group currently owns and operates a portfolio of logistics facilities in Japan, China, Europe, Brazil, India and the U.S. The GLP Group operates joint ventures in Japan respectively with the China Investment Corporation, a sovereign wealth fund of China, and the Canadian Pension Plan Investment Board, a public entity for pension investment in Canada. Capitalizing on such firm relationships with global investors, the GLP Group has conducted a fund management business.

Furthermore, the GLP Group's management teams in each country are comprised of members with strong track records in the acquisition, development and management of logistics facilities in respective areas, enabling operations that fit the actual conditions of the areas.

(ii) Growth strategy through utilization of the GLP Group's value chain

The GLP Group is a market leader holding the largest size of gross floor area in each of Japan, China, Brazil and India and is also a provider of modern logistics facilities, developing, holding and operating large-scale portfolios of leasable logistics facilities (of many types including multi-tenant facilities, BTS facilities (Build-to-Suit: logistic facilities with location and equipment that accommodates demand of clients), single-tenant facilities, or leaseback facilities) in Europe and the U.S as well. In conjunction with holding these leasable logistics facilities, GLP also provides a full array of logistics facilities solutions encompassing acquisition, development, owning and operating, facility management, leasing, property management, a broad range of consulting services and provision of SaaS cloud services utilizing advance technology, thus the Group as a whole functioning as a comprehensive value chain. The Asset Manager receives full support in the management of the Investment Corporation's assets from the GLP Group, which possesses such a value chain.

[2] Portfolio Development Policy

(A) Investment Area

Taking into account the need for geographical diversification as well as population distribution, gross regional product, and logistics trends and other regional trends, the Investment Corporation will principally target for investment logistics facilities located near airports and trading ports, along transportation networks linking large consumer regions and in distribution hubs in manufacturing or consumer zones. The guidelines for the ratio of investment (on an acquisition cost basis) for each of the investment area are indicated below. While the focus of investments will be in the Tokyo metropolitan and Greater Osaka area the Investment Corporation will aim for portfolio stability by also investing in other area as well.

Area	Investment Ratio
Tokyo metropolitan area	50-70%
Greater Osaka area	20-40%
Other	5-20%

(Note) “Tokyo metropolitan area” includes the Tokyo Metropolis, Kanagawa Prefecture, Saitama Prefecture, Chiba Prefecture, Ibaraki Prefecture, Tochigi Prefecture, Gunma Prefecture and Yamanashi Prefecture; “Greater Osaka area” includes Osaka Prefecture, Hyogo Prefecture, Kyoto Prefecture, Shiga Prefecture, Nara Prefecture and Wakayama Prefecture; “Other” means all areas other than the foregoing.

(B) Investment Criteria (Logistics Facilities)

From the standpoint of achieving a stable earnings flow, the Investment Corporation will invest in logistics facilities with stable operations or assets which are assets ancillary to or related to those logistics facilities. Specifically, the Investment Corporation will invest in logistics facilities or assets which are assets ancillary to or related to those logistics facilities which have been completed at least one year prior or have occupancy rates of at least 93% at the time when the acquisition is decided upon or made.

When making investment decisions regarding the acquisition of logistics facilities or assets which are assets ancillary to or related to those logistics facilities, the Investment Corporation will place emphasis on location, scale, and functionality among other factors. Specifically, the Investment Corporation will invest in logistics facilities or real estate-related assets which are assets ancillary to or related to logistics facilities centering on stably operated modern logistics facilities or real estate securities backed by the foregoing, while considering securement of stable income and steady growth of the investment assets over the medium to long term.

Occupancy status	Will invest in properties completed at least one year prior or having occupancy rates of at least 93%.
Scale	Will invest primarily in large-scale leasable logistics facilities with minimum gross floor areas of 10,000 m ² .
Functionality	Investment priority will be placed on properties having the following features, among others, which in our view indicate high functionality: “more than half of the gross floor area with a floor-to-ceiling height of 5.5 m or more and a floor load tolerance of 1.5 t/m ² or more.” Attention will be given to the functionalities of “significant inter-pillar space,” “advanced truck loading yards (width of loading space, high floored truck berths, dock levelers),” “high delivery efficiency truck berth design (truck berths on both sides and on each floor),” “ramp ways,” “office space,” “high capacity elevators,” “employee space (changing room, employee lounge, store),” “high intensity lighting (intensity appropriate for warehouse work),” “seismically isolated structures,” “24-hour security” and “advanced environmentally friendly features.”

(C) Investment Criteria (Land with Leasehold Interest)

The Investment Corporation will also invest in real estate-related assets which are real estate ancillary to or related to logistics facilities or real estate securities backed by land with leasehold interest on which a logistics facility currently exists, or land with leasehold interest on which building a logistics facility in the future is expected to be possible by carrying out redevelopment, from the standpoint of achieving further income and growing the portfolio.

In acquiring land with leasehold interest, the Investment Corporation will make investment decisions by putting emphasis on location as well as the investment criteria concerning the scale and functionality, among others, of the logistics facility that currently exists on the land or of which future construction on the land is expected through redevelopment.

When acquiring land with leasehold interest on which a logistics facility currently exists, the Investment Corporation will consider the probability of acquisition of said logistics facility, such as the expectation of obtaining preferential negotiation right of said logistics facility, in making investment decisions.

When acquiring land with leasehold interest in anticipation of future construction of a logistics facility through redevelopment, the Investment Corporation will make investment decisions by considering the following criteria, among other factors:

Occupancy status	Stable operation is expected after completion.

The GLP Group, through its subsidiaries, holds a portfolio of logistics facilities in Japan and in conjunction with this also provides a various array of logistics facilities solutions encompassing acquisition, development, owning and managing, leasing, property management and a broad range of consulting services. In addition, the GLP Group established GLP Japan Income Fund (hereinafter referred to as “JIF”), an open-end private fund investing in modern logistics facilities, in August 2020, and commenced management from October 2020. As a result, there may be instances in which some of the operations relating to acquisition, ownership, management, leasing and other functions with respect to logistics facilities may overlap with the investing and asset management operations of the Investment Corporation.

The GLP Group follows a business model posited on circulative expansion (a capital recycling model) under which it focuses on the development business and selling the logistics facilities which it already owns and manages and those which it will newly develop, own and manage from time to time, and using, or “recycling,” the proceeds from such sales to replenish its portfolio through the development or acquisition of additional properties. As a specific step in the implementation of the capital recycling model, the Investment Corporation may also obtain, to the extent permitted under the restrictions stipulated under applicable laws, regulations and contracts, sales information which GLP Japan may obtain about logistics facilities of the GLP Group and about logistics facilities owned by third parties. Hence, we believe that the possibility of competition arising between the Investment Corporation and the GLP Group is limited.

(C) The Decision-Making Body for Investment Management

The Investment Committee is the decision-making body for important matters such as investment policies, pertaining to the investment assets of the Investment Corporation and in particular makes decisions concerning the selection and terms and conditions of deals for new acquisition or sale of real estate by the Investment Corporation. It also prepares and revises (excluding correction of errata) investment guidelines and asset management plan for the Investment Corporation, administers the investment assets based on the foregoing, deliberates important matters regarding financing policies and makes decisions as the Asset Manager.

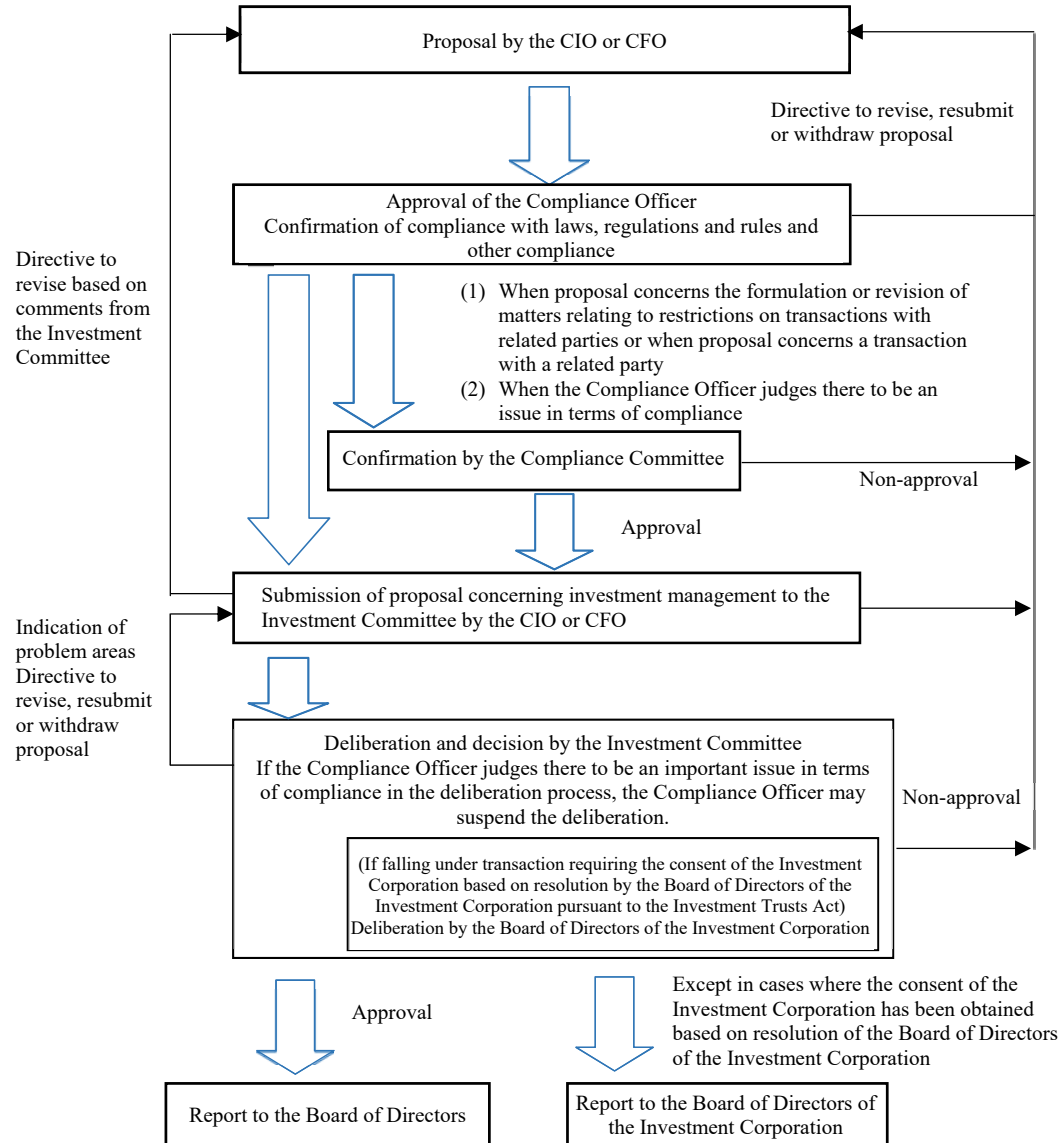

The Investment Committee consists of Directors, CIO, CFO, Compliance Officer and an outside expert designated by the Board of Directors (hereinafter referred to as the “Outside Expert(s) on the Investment Committee”) with the President & CEO as the head of committee. When the Board of Directors designates the Outside Expert on the Investment Committee it must obtain the approval of the Board of Directors of the Investment Corporation (but not in the case of reappointment). The statutory auditor may attend Investment Committee meetings but has no vote. The Compliance Officer also has no voting right, but if during the course of the deliberations he/she judges there to be an issue in terms of compliance, he/she may stop the deliberations. All meetings of the Investment Committee require attendance of the Compliance Officer.

The Investment Committee in principal meets once in three months as convened by its chairperson, and also as otherwise necessary.

Proposals placed before the Investment Committee, after being drawn up by the CIO or the CFO, will be submitted to the Compliance Officer and confirmation will be obtained regarding any issues in terms of compliance with laws, regulations and rules (Meaning the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act, the Act on Investment Trusts and Investment Corporations, the Building Lots and Buildings Transaction Business Act (Act No. 176 of 1952), other laws and regulations, listing rules laid down by the financial instruments exchanges on which the Investment Corporation is listed, rules laid down by The Investment Trusts Association, Japan (the “Investment Trusts Association”), and internal rules of the Asset Manager and the Investment Corporation; and the same shall apply hereinafter.) and regarding whether there are any other issues in terms of compliance. In addition, if the Compliance Officer judges there to be questions concerning compliance or if a proposal concerning the formulation, revision or repeal of matters relating to restrictions on transactions with related parties is being considered or if the proposal falls under a transaction with a related party, it shall be placed before the Compliance Committee. Only after if it is found upon the completion of the foregoing procedures that there are no issues in terms of compliance may the CIO or the CFO submit the proposal to the Investment Committee.

Decisions of the Investment Committee require that a majority of all of the members having voting rights be present and a majority of those vote their approval. Decisions taken will be reported by the President to the Board of Directors (when the decision involves a transaction with a related party or similar matter, the Board of Directors and the Board of Directors of the Investment Corporation). However, acquisition/transfer or leasing of real estate or securities with related parties of the investment corporation require the consent of the Investment Corporation based on approval of the Board of Directors of the Investment Corporation before entering into the agreement, except in cases where it falls under a transaction listed in the items of Article 245-2, Paragraph 1 of the Ordinance for Enforcement of the Investment Trusts Act. When a proposal concerns the determination or change of the maximum percentage of divergence between the acquisition or disposition price and the appraised value of investment assets in trading with related parties or a decision or change concerning the acquisition or sale of an investment asset by the Investment Corporation, it may only be decided by the Investment Committee if the Outside Expert on the Investment Committee is present and votes in favor of the resolution or if the Outside Expert on the Investment Committee approves the resolution in writing in instances in which due to unavoidable circumstances he/she is unable to attend the meeting of the Investment Committee. When the Investment Committee is deliberating on transactions between related parties and the investment corporation, a committee member having voting rights who is a related party or a committee member having voting rights who currently holds the position of an officer or employee (including as a concurrent position but excluding cases when such person has been seconded or transferred to the Asset Manager) of a related party, which is a corporation, may not participate in the decision.

The specific procedure from the preparation and submission of the proposal concerning investment management to the determination of such proposal is as described in the following page.

(3) Policies on Transactions Involving Conflicts of Interest

[1] Policy and Management System for Dealing with Transactions Involving Conflicts of Interest

At the Asset Manager, based on the Rules on Transactions with Related Parties established as internal rules of the company, the drafting or the revision of basic policies on investments covered by the provisions concerning restrictions on transactions with related parties or transactions with related parties as provided in the Rules, must be approved by the Compliance Committee, deliberated and passed by the Investment Committee and in addition be reported without delay to the Board of Directors of the Investment Corporation. A proposal may only be submitted to the Investment Committee after the Compliance Committee has judged there to be no conflict with applicable laws, regulations and rules or other matters of compliance. Transactions which are judged to be problematic from a compliance standpoint may not be proposed to the Investment Committee and accordingly the Investment Corporation may not make such transactions. Related parties as referred to above include (a) related parties, as defined in the Investment Trusts Act, (b) shareholders of the Asset Manager and subsidiaries and affiliates of the shareholder of the Asset Manager as per consolidated accounting standards and (c) special purpose companies which outsource asset management, investment advisory services and asset administration, to the aforementioned (a) or (b).

In addition, acquisition/transfer or leasing of real estate or securities by the Investment Corporation with related parties as defined in the Investment Trusts Act require the consent of the Investment Corporation based on approval of the Board of Directors of the Investment Corporation before entering into the agreement, except in cases where it falls under a transaction listed in the items of Article 245-2, Paragraph 1 of the Ordinance for Enforcement of the Investment Trusts Act.

At the Asset Manager, pursuant to its internal rules on transactions by related parties, if the Investment Corporation intends to carry out a transaction, with a related party, in addition to the abovementioned procedures, the following rules must also be adhered to.

A. Acquisition of Investment Assets from a Related Party

- (i) The acquisition price for each asset of Real Estate, etc. (meaning the acquisition price of the Real Estate, etc., not including taxes, acquisition costs, costs of creating a trust, reserves in trust accounts, trust earnings or the pro rata portion of real estate taxes) will be determined taking as reference the appraised value (Including values derived from value investigations using methods similar to an appraisal valuation and the same shall apply hereinafter.) of a real estate appraiser who has no interests in the Asset Manager or the related party.
- (ii) The acquisition price in (i) above may be decided by adding on a certain amount to the value as appraised by the real estate appraiser; however, the maximum amount that may be added on is the product of the appraised value multiplied by the allowable percentage of divergence from the appraised value as determined by the Investment Committee. The allowable percentage of divergence will be reviewed periodically (but at least once every six months) by the Investment Committee taking into account conditions in the real estate market; provided, however, that the allowable percentage of divergence may not exceed 10%.
- (iii) In any decision or review of the allowable percentage of divergence the approval of the Outside Expert on the Investment Committee must be obtained.
- (iv) The acquisition of other investment assets from related parties, will in principle be done at the market price, but if a market price is difficult to ascertain, then the price will be determined in accordance with (i) above.
- (v) When a related party, incurs miscellaneous costs for establishing a special purpose company or other entity on the premise of its eventual transfer to the Investment Corporation, the Investment Corporation may add the miscellaneous costs (intermediation fees, trust fees, costs for establishing a special purpose company, etc., due diligence costs) to the acquisition price.

B. Sale of Investment Assets to a Related Party

- (i) The sale price for each asset of Real Estate, etc. (meaning the sale price of the Real Estate, etc., not including taxes, acquisition costs, costs of creating a trust, reserves in trust accounts, trust earnings or the pro rata portion of real estate taxes) will be determined taking as reference the appraised value of a real estate appraiser who has no interests in the Asset Manager or the related party.
- (ii) The sale price may be decided by subtracting a certain amount from the value as appraised by the real estate appraiser; however, the maximum amount that may be subtracted is the product of the appraised value multiplied by the allowable percentage of divergence from the appraised value as prescribed in A. (ii) above.

- (iii) The sale of other investment assets to related parties, will in principle be done at the market price, but if a market price is difficult to ascertain, then the price will be determined in accordance with (i) above.

C. Concluding or Changing Lease Agreements for Real Estate, Etc., with Related Parties

Lease agreements between the Investment Corporation and related parties should be on terms and conditions judged appropriate taking into account the market and market reports and written opinions, prepared by unrelated third parties.

D. Outsourcing of Management and Administration Services for Investment Assets and Building Management Services to Related Parties

If management and administration services for investment assets and building management services are outsourced to related parties, confirmation will be made that the criteria for the selection standards of outside services providers prescribed in the Investment Guidelines, which are internal rules of the Asset Manager, are met and the outsourcing fee will be determined taking into account market rates and the nature of the services. If an interested party is already providing management and administration services or building management services for a property when acquired, for a certain period subsequent to the acquisition the services may continue to be outsourced to the related party upon confirmation that it meets the selection criteria for outside services providers but the outsourcing fee is to be determined taking into account market rates and the nature of the services.

E. Brokerage of Sale or Lease of Real Estate, Etc., by Related Parties

- (i) Brokerage of sale of Real Estate, etc.
The amount of brokerage fees paid will be within the range prescribed in the Building Lots and Building Transaction Business Act (In the case of trust beneficiary interests the standard applied should be the land or building under trust.)

The amount of brokerage fees paid will be within the range prescribed in the Building Lots and Building Transaction Business Act (In the case of trust beneficiary interests the standard applied should be the land or building under trust.)

F. Ordering of Construction Work from Related Parties

Orders may be placed with related parties if the terms and conditions are considered appropriate upon review of estimates obtained from third parties who have no interests in the related parties or of written opinions or other evaluation materials from professionals who have no interests in related parties.

[2] Reasons for Adopting the Investment Structure

A. The Role of the Board of Directors of the Asset Manager in Regard to Conflict-of-Interest Transactions

The Board of Directors is the decision-making body for basic important management matters of the Asset Manager.

The Asset Manager has established the position of Compliance Officer as key person responsible for compliance. It has also established a Compliance Committee for the purpose of ensuring full compliance by the Asset Manager with all applicable laws, regulations, rules and other compliance matters.

The Compliance Committee will have the Compliance Officer as its chairperson and its membership will be comprised of at least one Outside Expert on the Compliance Committee. When the Board of Directors designates the Outside Expert(s) on the Compliance Committee at any time while it is being entrusted with asset management by the Investment Corporation it must also obtain the approval of the Board of Directors of the Investment Corporation (but not in the case of reappointment). As of the date of this report an outside attorney is the one Outside Expert(s) on the Compliance Committee.

B. Outside Expert(s) on the Compliance Committee

As of the date of this report one person, introduced below, has been nominated as the Outside Expert on the Compliance Committee.

Munehiro Matsumoto is an attorney, who, because of his broad perspective based on his knowledge and experience as a legal professional, can be looked to for assurance of legality with respect to potential conflict-of-interest transactions and, we believe, will also provide the restraining influence of a third party over decision-making and contribute to the overall corporate governance of the Asset Manager.
